

Southern California earthquakes – CAT response services

July 9, 2019

A 7.1 magnitude earthquake hit Southern California on Friday, July 5, causing structural damage, gas line breaks and fires. The same area also experienced a 6.4 magnitude earthquake on July 4. There have been several aftershocks and more are expected.

Sedgwick's catastrophe (CAT) team is in place and prepared to respond to our customers' claims handling needs. We can also connect you with Sedgwick repair solutions for assistance with emergency repairs, general construction and other restoration needs. Our team offers customized services through a network of certified local, regional and national contractors.
