Galaher Settlements: New brand name, same great service and expertise

In 2011, Sedgwick Claims Management Services, Inc., purchased two companies offering structured settlement services: Selective Settlements, Inc. (SSI), and Cambridge Galaher Settlements and Insurance Services, Inc., formerly owned by the Cambridge Integrated Services Group, Inc.

Today we are pleased to announce that we are uniting these two great companies under the brand name Galaher Settlements and Insurance Services, Inc., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Sedgwick. Jim Ebel, former president of SSI, will serve as president of Galaher Settlements, and Shale Martin, who joined us through the Cambridge transaction, has been appointed vice president. These two seasoned professionals will lead our world-class team of 50 professionals coast-to-coast with more than 600 years of combined structured settlement experience.

All of Galaher Settlements' valued clients can expect to receive the same high level of service from the same individuals they have come to know and trust. Galaher Settlements was built on its predecessors' earned reputations of dependability and commitment, and these core philosophies will continue to ring true in our superior service delivery. Our team of structure experts is the best in the business at settling and closing claims; last year alone, our structure sales represented more than $1 billion in benefits to injured annuitants. Our state-of-the-art, proprietary file management platform—the only diary-based file management system in the industry—allows us to provide our clients with accurate, same-day quoting and document services. The efficiency, security, and automation of our system give us a competitive advantage in the structured settlements marketplace and enable us to offer clients meaningful information for data analysis.
