Bracing for the impact of Hurricane Irma

With the cleanup efforts from Hurricane Harvey continuing in Texas, we are closely watching the path of Hurricane Irma as it rapidly heads toward the southeastern United States.

During all inclement weather, Sedgwick's top priority is the safety and welfare of our valued colleagues. Therefore, we have made the decision to close all of our Florida operations through Monday, Sept. 11. We will make a determination about reopening Tuesday, Sept. 12, when we have a better sense of the storm's impact on the areas where our colleagues live and work.

We are making every effort to ensure uninterrupted service during and after this weather event for the clients, individuals and business partners we serve. We have activated our business continuity plans, which include remote system access for affected Sedgwick colleagues and arrangements for backup coverage outside the path of the hurricane.

It is too soon to know the damage that Hurricane Irma will leave behind. We will continue to closely monitor the situation and notify you should we learn of any significant impact to our operations. If you have questions about your claims program, please contact your Sedgwick client services representative.

Thank you for your patience and understanding. For those with operations and employees in the path of Hurricane Irma, we wish you and yours safe-keeping.
