

Sedgwick announces senior forensic appointment of Emma Levett in Australia

SYDNEY, 9 August 2019 – Sedgwick, a leading global provider of technology-enabled risk, benefits and integrated business solutions, has appointed Emma Levett as a partner of the forensic advisory services team in Australia.

Levett has over 14 years' experience in investigative accounting across Australia and the UK. Most recently specializing in the investigation, analysis, and quantification of employee fraud and third-party crime losses.

Levett brings extensive experience across all types of corporate fraud losses including employee theft, social engineering fraud, mortgage fraud, trust account fraud, credit card fraud and computer fraud. Levett has worked with small medium enterprises through to Australian Securities Exchange listed companies and has considerable experience assisting these businesses with civil and criminal recovery proceedings as a result of these fraud losses.

Levett joins the Sedgwick forensic advisory services team in Australia as corporate fraud specialist, further strengthening the team's capability to offer this expertise to the market.

Kimberley Daley, head of forensic advisory services at Sedgwick Australia, said, "Emma has a highly specialized skillset and has operated across most sectors, ranging from aged care to manufacturing. Our team is considered market leaders in our industry. Emma brings extensive experience to help us reinforce our reputation as the industry benchmark and enhance the offering of our specialist team."

Levett said, "I am thrilled to join Sedgwick and excited about working with the team of talented individuals in forensic advisory services. I look forward to bringing my experience to the team to continue to strengthen the offering of forensic advisory services to the market."
