

Sedgwick appoints Clare Cordingley senior manager of major event response in Australia

SYDNEY, 11 Aug. 2021 - Sedgwick, a leading global provider of technology-enabled risk, benefits and integrated business solutions, further strengthened its team in Sydney with the appointment of Clare Cordingley as senior manager, major event response.

In this new role, Cordingley will be responsible for preparing, practicing and leading Sedgwick's major event response and strategy in Australia during catastrophes and surge events.

Cordingley has over seven years of experience within the Insurance Council of Australia (ICA) with substantial involvement in many of the major events, including severe storms, flood events and bushfires. Her broad industry knowledge and efficient team management skills have led her to effectively resolve complex insurance issues for disaster scenarios.

"Clare has significant experience and relationships across industry, regulatory, government and client stakeholders as it relates to major event response. Her experience will immensely support our response strategy in Australia," said Daniel Sirone, head of home claims and building services for Sedgwick in Australia. "She will strengthen our local team and help us by providing guidance on solutions and services."

Cordingley added, "I am thrilled to join the operations at Sedgwick, as their expertise and quality of service are well known in handling major events. The rise of major events in Australia continue to have a significant impact on our industry. I look forward to ensuring that our external stakeholders receive a high level of support to align with their expectations and requirements."
