Snowstorm hits the Northern Alps, impacting some areas of France

A snowstorm, beginning Thursday, November 14, has affected the Northern Alps. This snowy episode is particularly early for the season, causing residual snowfall through the end of the night Sunday, November 17.

Haute Savoie, Savoie and Isère in France remain the most impacted areas. The first findings reveal power cuts, problems on ski lifts and also heavy weight of snow.

Our team is organized to meet your expectations in the settlement of claims whether they are financial (business interruption), equipment (ski lifts), building (weight of the snow) or any other damage related to power cuts (loss of cold).
